PROPOSED RESIDENTIAL CONDOMINIUM PROPERTY BOUNDARY

Certain project infrastructure, project amenities, and amenity facilities will not be part of the residential condominium and will be made available to owners and guests of the residential condominium development through easement rights and other use rights set forth in the project documents. The right to use and access certain improvements and amenities may be subject to assessments and other a la carte fees charged by the residential condominium association, the master condominium association, or the amenities owner(s) pursuant to the project documents. Furthermore, certain project infrastructure, project amenities, and amenity facilities may be managed by third-party management companies on behalf of the residential condominium association, the master condominium association, or the amenities owner(s). Changes may be made to the amenities, buildings, methods, square footages and designs used in our project.
